10 NYC Restaurants Opening This Summer

This summer, we're looking forward to a slew of new restaurants and menus to test out. From an old-school diner in Harlem to a new RedFarm location, New Yorkers are going to get a full dose of new hotspots to check out this summer. Click through for our slideshow of restaurant openings in NYC.

Anassa Taverna

Tim Pappas (former General Manager of Philippe Chow) and Avra are partnering up to open a new Greek Mediterranean restaurant, Anassa Taverna, at the former Brasserie 360 location. The multi-level restaurant will feature a menu with fresh fish and authentic Greek recipes. The space will accommodate for live entertainment, in the style of traditional Greek "tavernas." The restaurant is slated to open May 31st.
